

April 2, 2020

To: All Essex Customers

Re: COVID-19 (coronavirus) Resumes Operations

Amid this current COVID-19 crisis, the government has issued its' most recent recommendations in the Department of Homeland Security CISA Guidance on the Essential Critical Infrastructure Workforce notice. In this notice, it identifies manufacturers, such as Essex Electronics, as part of the supply chain supporting critical infrastructure. Deemed a critical component of infrastructure support, Essex has resumed manufacturing for some of our products which support these sectors. Our primary focus is on the production of healthcare essential products such as the Hand-E-Wave™ product line. Lead times of other products manufactured by Essex Electronics may be longer than usual. Please contact our sales staff for product availability. We apologize for any inconvenience and appreciate your patience and understanding.

While in operation, we are Essex are committed to observing all CDC guidelines regarding the COVID-19 virus including, reducing the footprint of our workforce, maintaining safe distances between individuals and adding sanitizing workstations.

You can read the full Advisory Memorandum here.

<https://tma.us/wp-content/uploads/2020/03/Version-2.0-CISA-Guidance-on-Essential-Critical-Infrastructure-Workers.pdf>

Thank you for your continued support.

Sincerely,

Essex Electronics